

Take your party to a new level with new amazing new features!

NEW! TupperConnect™ Party

Tupperware Hosts can reach out and collect sales in an entirely new way—through a TupperConnect™ Party! With this amazing new feature, family and friends who can't physically attend a Host's party can attend the Host's party online!

Here's how it works.

AS THE HOST

- As a Host, you will receive an e-mail invitation from me and will be prompted to create an account at Tupperware.ca in Canada.
- During the set-up process, you can enter names and email addresses of family and friends you want to attend a party.
  - o You can even invite friends and relatives anywhere in Canada.
    - They will be able to order online, receive the product directly from Tupperware and this will add to Party sales.
- You invite the guests via a colourful online party invitation; you can monitor RSVP responses, party and online orders.
- Don't forget to invite in person whenever possible, and call others by phone with a personal invitation, your e-mail invitation should be a secondary written invitation with a reminder of party details.

TupperConnect™ can help you:

- Increase Party sales by providing a convenient way for guests who cannot attend the party to submit online orders with direct shipping
- Send & manage online invitations to all guests
- Monitor party sales

Once set up, TupperConnect is your party central where you can invite guests, see who is coming to a party, & read their comments.

PARTY GUESTS

- Guests who accept the party invitation can enter comments, which you can read.
- Guests who are unable to attend will receive a one-time only link that will invite them to place an order that is tied to your party.

Simple as 1 – 2 – 3 – 4

1. "As soon as I get home, I will set up your party date. When I do this, you will automatically receive an email invitation."
2. "When you receive the online invitation, you'll be given directions to set up your account at Tupperware.ca.
"You can then set up your party by entering names and email addresses of family and friends you want to attend the party."
3. "Your guests will receive a colorful online Party invitation telling them all about your party."
"Between the time of your party set up and the actual party date; you can keep an eye on the RSVP responses, comments and online orders."
4. "When guests cannot attend and they respond with a "No" to the invite, they will receive an email inviting them to place an online order. These orders will be added to your total party sales once party sales reach the minimum "thank you" gift host level. Those online orders will be shipped directly to the guest who did not attend. It's that easy!"
