

Try this recruiting poem at your parties and see whose interest you spark:

At 7 a.m. I don't envy the mob
Who rise, shine, shower and go to the job.

I have breakfast with my family and kiss them goodbye.
There isn't a happier mother than I.

I straighten the house and feel like a smarty...
Because I can do this, then leave for a party.

I can be home for lunch or by the school's end.
My job and my family beautifully blend.

I don't miss school plays or an after-school game.
I juggle my schedule and earn just the same.

As a Tupperware Consultant, it's all up to me.
I determine my pay cheque, come join us...you'll see!!

